Booster Rooster says you should ride in a booster seat until you reach the magic number of 4’9” (57 inches).

Boosters are for Big Kids!

Children are ready to ride without a booster when:

* Lower back is against vehicle seat
* Shoulder belt rests across collar bone.
* Lap belt rests across hips.
* Knees bend over edge of seat.
* Child rides like this for whole trip.

And always remember to Buckle Up!
Child Passenger Safety Act (KSA 8-1343)

* If under age 8, an appropriate child safety seat or booster seat unless the child weighs more than 80 lbs. or is more than 4’9” tall.
* If under age 14 and not in a booster seat, a safety belt.
